

Title: The rear trunk locker can be laid flat

Generated on: 2026-04-28 16:51:48

Copyright (C) 2026 Martin Solar. All rights reserved.

For the latest updates and more information, visit our website: <https://www.psicologaaliciamartin.es>

-----

I made a custom rear cargo area platform that gives a flat load floor with the seats down, provides three hidden storage areas under the platform and still allows access to the under floor ...

In my 15, I generally have the rear seat backs folded down as I got a dog last year, and when we take him with us, he has the rear seats folded flat for him. In this video, it was the first that ...

Are you worried their nails will scratch it when flat? One option is what I do, and that's put either dog beds or bath mats. I have a couple memory foam bathroom mats that they really like and ...

First things first: The second-row seats tumble; they do not fold flat. This means I, a 5'8" dude, had to lay down at an angle and use a little cutout in the rear cargo area side trim for my feet; ...

First, to those who have crossbars installed, what is the new overall height of the vehicle? Second, I am going to be potentially fitting a bike bag (57 in x 17 in x 33 in) into the car.

I have cargo boxes I'm about to list for sale, but I'll keep them for a while if they fit the rear cargo area. Also, I'll buy a thin inflatable mattress, for when the boxes aren't installed, but need to ...

It can be folded down flat and locked when the seats are down. In this quick video I take you through the basics of the partitioned lockable storage, including how it works and locking it up!

Because they are a box frame truck design and no matter how you look at those, they will always never lay flat. You need a SUV car based like a Highlander if you want it to be flat.

For those of us looking into what will fit in the cargo area, can anyone point me to or measure for themselves some dimensions of the cargo area (for the US spec hybrid version) with the ...

As many of you 4Runners already know, when you fold the middle seats down, the seats and rear cargo area

The rear trunk locker can be laid flat

are not level with each other. The rear cargo area sits about 3 inches below the ...

Web: <https://www.psicologaaliciamartin.es>

